

Matthew Shusterman

Matthew Shusterman is an associate with the firm and focuses his practice on civil litigation. He has handled a wide range of litigation involving premises liability, environmental insurance coverage, asbestos litigation, products liability, ecclesiastical matters, and general liability claims. He has experience practicing in both federal and state courts at the trial and appellate levels. Matt is licensed to practice law in Pennsylvania, and New Jersey.

Mr. Shusterman received his B.S. in Finance from The Pennsylvania State University, and graduated from Syracuse University College of Law in 2006. At Syracuse, Matthew was involved in mentoring incoming law students. Prior to working at Billet & Associates, Matt clerked for the Honorable Robert Shenkin of the Chester County Court of Common Pleas, and worked for a regional insurance defense firm.

Currently, Mr. Shusterman volunteers his time with the Homeless Advocacy Legal Project, representing indigent clients, including veterans seeking compensation benefits. He has also volunteered with the Philadelphia Police Athletic League and MANNA.
